Jason Richards, Technical Director

With the move to the Node4 data centre, Exchequer Dynamics is now in greater control of their web application servers, improving disaster recovery and backup.

ABOUT & BACKGROUND

Exchequer Dynamics are a total solutions provider for IRIS Exchequer accounting software and ERP. The company has two sites, with a head office in Christchurch, Dorset and a technical centre in Rushden, Northamptonshire.

With a customer base ranging from SME's through to mid-market institutions in the UK and Eire, Exchequer Dynamics covers a wide and diverse range of industry sectors.

There was a need to link both sites with the data centre as the main focal point.

CHALLENGE

Exchequer Dynamics were looking to embark on consolidating its IT infrastructure, requiring a company to host its new cloud solutions centre by collocating their servers and storage.

It was vital for the prospective data centre to host the company's business critical infrastructure consisting of Sophos (Astaro) UTM's, IBM servers and storage arrays offering leading class security, performance and resilience.

SOLUTION

Node4 assisted Exchequer Dynamics with collocating their servers and storage to their Northampton facility which is located about fifteen minutes away from their technical centre.

"For our customers who are typically discerning in nature, we are now able to offer colocation services, private cloud solutions, business intelligence applications as a hosted service and data convergence for Exchequer customers using IRIS Exchequer enterprise accounting software. With the Node4 data centre being within easy reach of our offices, it makes the management of our test and live systems very simple with 24/7 access"
